Four levels: Effective programs and practices have strong evidence to indicate they achieve criminal justice, juvenile justice, and victim services outcomes when implemented with fidelity; Promising programs and practices have some evidence to indicate they achieve criminal justice, juvenile justice, and victim services outcomes. Included within the promising category are new, or emerging, programs for which there is some evidence of effectiveness; Inconclusive programs and practices that made it past the initial review but, during the full review process, were determined to have inconclusive evidence for a rating to be assigned; No effects programs have strong evidence indicating that they had no effects or had harmful effects when implemented with fidelity.
